WE WOULD LIKE YOU TO BE AWARE OF THE FOLLOWING TRAITS OF THE GOLDEN RETRIEVER BREED:

ARE YOU AWARE...

That Golden Retrievers need lots of exercise to keep them happy?

That Goldens shed copious amounts of hair twice a year and smaller amounts throughout the year?

That Goldens require regular brushing to keep the shedding and tangles under control?

That Goldens need periodic grooming to prevent matting and hot spots, as well as ear infections?

That even with regular grooming, you will always have a bit of dog hair on your clothing and/or furniture?

That Goldens mature slowly and some Goldens are forever puppies in attitude?

That Golden Retriever puppies have a lot of energy and unless that energy is discharged through activity and interaction they can become destructive?

That Goldens require a great deal of your time and attention daily?

That Goldens have a real need and desire to carry things in their mouths; therefore, they will carry/chew and/or swallow whatever you leave on the floor?

That they need the company and companionship of people and are happiest when they are with people? They were developed as a breed to have this characteristic.

That even though the breed is noted for being good with children, they should not be left unsupervised with small children?

That even though the breed is noted for being calm, easygoing, people-loving dogs, they are still dogs and behave like dogs?

That even though the breed is known for being well behaved and intelligent, good behavior from a Golden requires training on your part?

That some Goldens believe that they are more intelligent than their owners and can be quite stubborn?

That Goldens do not come fully trained?

That Goldens will become your best friend?

That Goldens do not think like human beings?

That Goldens learn by repetition so it is very important to be consistent when training?

That even though every precaution has been taken by Tanglewood Goldens to prevent health problems, Goldens are subject to hip dysphasia, joint disease, epilepsy, heart disease, allergies, thyroid problems, cataracts, retinal atrophy, and cancer?

Goldens are excellent companion dogs, however, we do see the occasional temperament issues arise. Once again, Tanglewood Goldens takes every precaution in selective breeding, early socialization and temperament testing in order to prevent such issues. However, you should be aware that temperament problems such as stubbornness, food/toy possessiveness (demonstrated by growling) etc., could occur and that early training and proper socialization are crucial factors in any Golden Retriever's good behavior. We recommend several books that will help you with early training on our web site.

I have read the above and understand fully the implications as written:
